

BRINGING BACK the BACONS

for Conservation and Culture!

8 PM october
10th
2008

THE COLONIAL THEATRE - PHOENIXVILLE, PA

In an exciting collaboration that recognizes the mutually dependent aspects of conservation of natural resources (our land and rivers) and man-made resources (our urban centers) the French and Pickering Creeks Conservation Trust and the Association for the Colonial Theatre have joined together to bring a wonderful evening of entertainment to our community. This effort will help to promote both organizations' goals and bring needed funds to their respective work.

Get your tickets
today, seating
is limited!

BRINGING BACK THE BACONS FOR CONSERVATION AND CULTURE promises to be an evening of incredible entertainment by two "sons of Chester County" Kevin and Michael Bacon, as well as a night of food, friends and great fun! Both organizations understand the importance of our integral missions and this joint effort will help cement a future relationship that benefits our entire community.

How can you get involved?

This high visibility event offers some terrific opportunities for corporate involvement and recognition. Supporting the concert—and its beneficiaries—will build community awareness and provide the opportunity to reach 550 people that evening. Plus, as a corporate sponsor, you'll have the opportunity to meet the Bacon Brothers at a reception following the show.
