

Built in 1903 as a Vaudeville House, the “Colonial Opera House” brought professional shows and live entertainment to Phoenixville for the first time. Since then, the Colonial Theatre has played a significant role in the lives of many people in our community. When the former owner decided to sell, a group of concerned citizens decided it was time to forever protect the legacy of the Colonial Theatre for future generations.

The Association for The Colonial Theatre (ACT) is committed to the full restoration of this “gem” as a cultural arts center. Thanks to the generosity of many in the past years the renovation process continues.

The Colonial is open everyday, offering a variety of art and independent films, classics and children’s programs.

You can support this important asset in our community by becoming a member. Your contribution to this membership drive will help to sustain the Colonial in its day to day operations and at the same time boost the resurgence of downtown Phoenixville.

The official registration and financial information of “Association for the Colonial Theatre” may be obtained from the Pennsylvania Department of State by calling toll-free, within Pennsylvania, 1-800-732-0999. Registration does not imply endorsement.
